

IQ vs EQ:

WHICH HAS A GREATER IMPACT ON YOUR CHILD'S SUCCESS?

Parent Education Opportunity at Oak Knoll

Wednesday, October 28th, 2009

Coffee and Light Bites
7:55 am

Karen Grites, M.S., Speaker
8:00 am - 9:30 am

Oak Knoll Multi-Purpose Room

PTO GENERAL MEMBERSHIP MEETING IMMEDIATELY AFTER

IQ vs. EQ... "IQ" is fairly well understood as a predictor of school success. Why then do so many bright people fall short of the success a high IQ might predict? A child's emotional predisposition to learn and interact is closely tied to their "EQ", or emotional intelligence. Factors such as motivation, interpersonal interaction, perfectionism, concentration and perseverance all have an important interplay role with a child's IQ. Learn how to help your child develop these skills that are so critical to success.

Come hear Karen Grites, M.S., teach us about helping our children develop EQ. Karen is Director of Educational Services and Site Director of All Kinds of Minds Schools Attuned® at the Children's Health Council. She has worked in the field of education for over 35 years.

RSVP to rsvpoakknoll@yahoo.com

Please contact Csbowsher@aol.com with any questions.